Acknowledgements

We wish to thank all of those who provide assistance and support to the Court. Most notably, we thank the citizens of the Town of Colonie for allowing us the opportunity to serve them. In particular, we would like to thank Town Justices Andrew C. Sommers and Susan M. Tatro for their effort in administering justice in the Town of Colonie in 2009. Further, we would like to recognize those justices and staff members who have preceded us and carried the torch of justice ensuring that its beacon illuminated what has become a major court system in the State of New York.

In addition, we would like to thank the current staff of the Justice Court for their dedication and hard work. It is because of their daily efforts that this Court has the reputation for accuracy and efficiency in the administration of justice.

Finally, we would like to thank Supervisor Paula A. Mahan and the Colonie Town Board for their support and demonstrated interest in our Court System which plays a vital role in the quality of life of our citizens.

Historical Perspective

The origin of the Justice Court in the State of New York can be traced to the founding of our nation. The Justice of the Peace was a fundamental element of order in society being introduced to our nation from the time honored English legal system. In fact, Alexis de Tocqueville, in his 1835 report, Democracy in America, noted that the Justice of the Peace, and the local order the Justice provides, is the embodiment of democracy.

As to a more enriched presentation on the historical development of the Justice Court in New York State and its foundation embedded in our State's Constitution, we refer you to the Report of the Special Commission on the Future of New York State Courts entitled Justice Most Local: the Future of Town and Village Courts in New York State released by then, New York State Court of Appeals Chief Judge Judith Kaye on September 17, 2008, pages 23-34.

The Town of Colonie Justice Court emanates from the founding of this Town in 1895. At that time, the Justice of the Peace was elected Town wide serving not only as officials of the local court responsible for hearing minor criminal and civil cases, but also serving together with the Town Supervisor and Town Clerk as members of the Town Board.

In 1932, the Colonie Town Board adopted legislation replacing the Justice of the Peace as Town Board member with specific Town councilmen effectively severing the role of Town Board member from the Justice of the Peace. Henceforth, the duties of a Justice of the Peace would involve only the Court without the dual legislative obligation.

In 1983, the Colonie Town Board renamed Justice of the Peace as Town Justice. Currently the Town is served by three (3) part time Justices each serving four (4) year terms. A list of those Town residents who have served as Justice in the Town of Colonie is attached hereto as Appendix 1.

Current Situation

The Colonie Justice Court is one of the busiest Courts in the State of New York handling approximately 25,000 criminal, vehicle and traffic, and civil cases per year.

Former Chief Judge of the New York State Court of Appeals, Judith S. Kaye, in her 2008 report on the State of the Judiciary, page 21, noted:

New York State's 1,277 Town and Village Justice Courts, after all, play a key role in New York State's system of justice. These courts hear more than two million cases a year, and collect more than $200 million in fees and fines shared by the localities and the State. For many New Yorkers, Justice Courts are the face of the justice system.

The Town of Colonie Justice Court is responsible for processing all criminal, civil, traffic, parking, local laws, and environmental law matters occurring within the Town's jurisdictional limits. In addition, the Court has jurisdiction over small claims matters involving individuals who reside, work or have a place of employment within the Town. Town Judges typically arraign the most serious felonies and routinely try misdemeanors, traffic infractions and other violations. The Court is responsible for reporting to several State and local agencies including, but not limited to, the Office of the State Comptroller, the Office of Court Administration, and the Division of Criminal Justice Services.

The Court holds four court sessions per week with two courtrooms and two judges generally functioning on Monday and Wednesday gaveling in at 6:00 p.m. and one courtroom opening at 8:30 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday. Judges are routinely called into Court outside of these specifically designated court sessions to perform arraignments, review applications for arrest and search warrants, issue order of protections or serving in a Family Court Judge capacity after Family Court is closed for the day or weekend.

In order for the Court to perform its duties, a plethora of litigants, agencies and staff must interface before, during and after all court sessions in order to function. For instance, litigants often must appear in advance in order to meet with their counsel. In order to prepare for criminal matters on Monday and Wednesday evenings, the District Attorney's Office and Public Defender's Office must conference well before court begins. This process requires ongoing support by court staff throughout the day and evening Court sessions.

The number of civil and criminal cases that are presented to the Court cannot be limited by the Court. This Court serves three police agencies as well as a number of State Agencies, all of which file informations and complaints with this Court. As each case requires review on an individual, case by case, basis the conclusion of a court session cannot be predetermined. Further, civil litigants routinely utilize the Court commencing a variety of actions without limitations other than monetary jurisdiction in certain civil matters. The Colonie Court is often a court of convenience for many litigants considering its accessibility and parking availability.

Civil Justice

The Colonie Court is routinely involved in the administration of civil justice. Cases brought before the Court include summary proceedings, small claims actions and matters based on the Court's general civil jurisdiction.

Each year, hundreds of civil cases are presented to the Court for resolution. Landlord and Tenant matters accounted for 3,615 of the civil cases brought before the court during the time frame of January 2000 through December 2009. Currently, the filing fee for a summary proceeding with the Court is $20. In addition, the Court may also charge an additional $20 for the Clerk of the Courts signature on the notice of petition, which is collected and signed prior to the service and filing. These fees are set by State Law.

Small claims matters accounted for 2,655 of the civil cases brought before the court for the time period of January 2000 through December 2009. Small claims cases often result in bench trials spanning one hour to several days depending on the evidence and testimony presented. The monetary limitation of small claims matters brought before the Town court is $3,000.

The Court's general civil jurisdiction requires a summons and complaint be filed with the Court. Monetary jurisdiction is also limited to $ 3,000.

The Court can anticipate an increase in civil matters brought before it based on the population, increased rental properties, both residential and commercial, and the reliance on courts to settle disputes. All of the above factors will ensure the continued utilization of the Colonie Town Court as a civil justice destination.

Criminal Justice

According to the New York State Office of Court Administration, on November 3, 2009, the total criminal case load activity in the Town of Colonie Court ranked twenty second (22) in the State of all criminal courts in the State of New York. Considering the criminal dockets in Supreme, County, City, and District Courts throughout the State, all Courts where personnel and equipment are funded by the State of New York, it is readily apparent that the Colonie Court functions as a big municipal Court. The Court Reporting Activity Placement reports, for the years 2005 to present, as prepared by the New York State Office of Court Administration, are attached hereto as Appendix 2.

Even more compelling is the fact that the Court Reporting Activity Placement Reports are comprised only of those reportable, or finger-printable, offenses which are reported to the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services (DCJS). In essence, this figure accounts for only those misdemeanor and felony cases that are brought before this Court. In addition to these cases, the Colonie Court is also processing criminal violations that account for a significant number of the cases on our docket each week, such as disorderly conduct, harassment, and unlawful possession of marijuana.

There are several contributing factors for the volume of cases that are brought before this Court. Within the 57 square mile geographic span of the Town, there exists a very high concentration of people, in addition to the many retail malls, shopping plazas, schools, colleges and business. As of the 2000 census, the Town's total population was approximately 80,000 residents. The Town is one of 932 towns in the State of New York, and it ranks 16th in population and is the largest of the 10 towns located within the County of Albany. In many ways, the Town of Colonie is the "downtown" of the Capital Region.

Further, the Albany County Correctional Facility and the Albany International Airport all fall within the jurisdiction of this Court and give rise to a number of cases, many of which are felony charges, requiring preliminary hearings. The Court averages approximately 350 preliminary hearings per year. The number of preliminary hearings scheduled each year can be found attached hereto as Appendix 3.

Although the Court does not have the jurisdiction to accept a plea to a felony charge, many felony cases begin with arraignment, and often preliminary hearing in the Town Court, and many times results in the court retaining jurisdiction based on a County Court return order and/or prosecutors information reducing the matter to the misdemeanor level.

Facilities

The Justice Department is currently located within the Town's Public Safety Center. The Court maintains two courtrooms. The larger of the two courtrooms has a capacity of 200 people, and the other, more traditional courtroom, which can best accommodate hearings and jury trials has a capacity of 70 people.

The Justice Department currently occupies one office space containing 8 cubicles and 4 offices as well as one conference room and two storage areas. Over the past ten years the Court has been forced to expand its office to its limits and has made minor renovations to the courtroom facilities. What is now a storage area was initially a juror deliberation room. Due to a lack of existing space, a wall was partially eliminated to accommodate access from the department's main office and the juror room was relocated. In addition, what was initially a second conference room was redesigned for storage of our pending case files. The main office area has reached capacity for cubicle space.

The large courtroom received modification a few years ago to allow for a public access window into the vestibule to help facilitate the check in process for our vehicle and traffic court. The volume of individuals checking in for arraignment on vehicle and traffic court night, in the courtroom, was becoming disruptive to the court while it was in session. To alleviate the disruption, a window was added which allows individuals to check in outside of the courtroom.

When the Public Safety building was constructed, over 20 years ago, it was not foreseen that the volume of this Court would have grown to what it is today. It is typical that on any given court session, the courtroom is full. This is in addition to the typical twenty or more incarcerated individuals that are brought to court each evening court session. On average, the Court has defendants produced from two correctional facilities in addition to the Albany County Correctional Facility. Some Court sessions require production of defendants from as many as four and five correctional facilities.

There are many factors that contribute to the operation of our Court. The volume of criminal cases has required us to have two Assistant District Attorneys and two Assistant Public Defenders assigned to our criminal court sessions. In 2009, three vehicle and traffic prosecutors were assigned from the Town Attorney's Office to handle traffic and local law matters. In addition to this personnel, we frequently deal with other outside agencies such as probation, parole, Honor Court, several community services agencies, as well as various State agencies and other courts.

Operations

In 2009, the Colonie Justice Court worked with an operational budget totaling $664,690. This figure is comprised of personnel expenditures of $597,340 and contractual expenses totaling $67,350. See Appendix #4 for the Town of Colonie Justice Court Annual Budget for 2009.

Over the past 10 years, this Court has ranked within the top dozen Town and Village Justice Courts in revenue collection. This is according to the Office of the State Comptroller Justice Court Fund Court Ranking Reports, which can be found in Appendix #5. In the year 2000, the Court collected $1, 499,963.30, since then the revenue total has increased. In 2009, the Court collected $ 2,558, 282.70 in revenue. On average, 47% of said funds are retained by the Town of Colonie. Appendix # 6 contains the revenue distribution from the years 2000 to present.

As mentioned above, the Court has a personnel budget of just over $ 597,000. There are a total of 13 departmental employees and 7 different job titles. An employee list, including titles, can be found in Appendix #7. Incorporated into the personnel budget are the salaries of the departments 13 positions and the overtime and part-time funding levels. The part-time line item consists of those hours dedicated to the position of Justice Court Senior Clerk, which includes the evening sessions of criminal court as well as a number of hours during daytime operations. This allows continuity in the criminal court as well as in the transition from daytime to evening operation. The overtime line item consists of two facets: the first is vehicle and traffic court and the second is additional staff for criminal court. Both are evening sessions and are essential components of the department's operations. In the past, the Court utilized "special salary" positions as well as part-time individuals to manage our evening court sessions. As our dockets grew, support staff from other agencies diminished, new judges were seated and the dynamics of the court changed so that the duties and responsibilities were steadily becoming too great for a part-time position to handle. The familiarity and awareness of the daily activity and operations became vital for the evening staff members in order to process evening court most efficiently. As the elimination of the special salary positions evolved during our tenure, the court better utilized overtime hours which has proved beneficial to the overall function, efficiency and continuity of the Court.

The only viable option in the reduction of overtime would be the creation of additional full time positions. This option would allow for more opportunity to create a “flex time” plan to be utilized, but with the current staffing this option is not feasible without jeopardizing the current operation. The caseload, volume and requirements of the Court are so vast that allowing current staff members to exercise an option to take daytime hours off in lieu of working evening court would seriously hinder the Court’s ability to maintain current operations.

Based on the overall cost of adding several full time staff members, the overtime option, at this point, is more cost effective. Clearly, and as compared to other comparable courts, we are well understaffed considering our volume.

The current employee organizational chart can be found in Appendix #8. There are a number of employees that have been classified as “typists” at a grade 6. It has long been our goal to have a reclassification and grade appeal on the current positions/titles within the department. The duties and functions of the staff have often been compared to those required of paralegals and law clerks.

When comparing the titles and salary grade levels of those in the State of New York Unified Court System, the existing titles should be reclassified. The distinguishing feature of work and typical duties performed by the staff of the Colonie Justice Department incorporate much more than that of a typist. In addition, those Courts that are funded by the Office of Court Administration also have, as part of their support staff, an assigned law clerk. These law clerks are members of the bar and are on average paid at a salary of approximately $ 85,000. As part of the Court proposed 2010 budget preparation, submitted in June 2009, the establishment of one position of Law Clerk to Judge(s) was requested. This position would require an attorney to research and analyze legal questions and issues and prepare memoranda with recommendations; additional duties would include drafting proposed opinions, decisions, orders, jury charges and other written material identical to City Court administration. The request was not adopted by the Town's Legislative Body.

This Court is often compared, in volume, caseload and revenue, to a big City Court. Our Court staff, however, does not enjoy comparable designation to City Court staff, or even to other major town courts. As an example, according to the Office of the State Comptroller Justice Court Fund Town and Village Court Ranking Report (Appendix 5), the Town of Colonie is ranked 3rd in revenue collection among all other town and village courts for the year 2008. In 2008, the Colonie Court was operating with support staff of 8 full time and 1 part time. The Town of Southampton, which was ranked 2nd, has 4 judges and a support staff of 16 full time and 8 part time. Similarly, the Town of Amherst, then ranked 7th, had staff totaling 16 full time and 2 part time.

Initiatives:

I. Implemented Reform

There have been a number of significant changes that we have implemented during the past 10 years. We have previously discussed the physical changes that have been made to the facilities; there have also been many administrative and technological improvements, as well.

Beginning in the year 2000, the commencement of the Courts evening court sessions was moved from 7:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. The case volume and duration of Court was such that it was more efficient to begin earlier.

This past year the Town Board created a Senior Justice Administrator position and appointed the Honorable Peter G. Crummey to the position. As part of his administrative duties, a directive was sent by the Judge to the District Attorney and Public Defender advising that their staff members must be conferenced and ready to proceed at the commencement of court session.

In addition, the Senior Judge has directed a complete individual assignment system, which will encourage efficiency in the administration of Justice. The individual assignment system should eliminate duplicative efforts and allow a judge to best manage motion practice, hearing and trial calendars, and the movement of the courts calendar.

This Court has long been looked to for participation in many new initiatives and “pilot programs”. As technology has advanced and electronic transmission of information has begun to incorporate more and more aspects of court administration, the Colonie Court has been on the forefront of change and growth.

This Court began the electronic filing of monthly reports and Invoice Billing Program at the Programs' inception. The Court began electronically reporting dispositions to both the Office of Court Administration and the Department of Motor Vehicles once the option became available. This office was one of the pilot courts when traffic and criminal software, more commonly known as "TraCS" or electronic ticketing began with the New York State Police, even before our Town's Police department became equipped to issue the electronic tickets. In addition, the Court has been participating in "e-justice" since it became accessible to courts. This program allows the court to access, electronically, criminal history reports and fingerprint response records from the New York State Division of Criminal Justice Services. Most recently, this Court participated in the pilot of Web DVS, which allows courts to electronically issue orders of protections which simultaneously posts the Court's order to the Domestic Violence Registry which is accessible to law enforcement statewide.

In March of 2008, this Court applied for, and was the recipient of, new computers, flat screen monitors, network printers, fax machines and copiers all provided by the New York State Office of Court Administration as part of the Action Plan for Justice Courts. This equipment has enhanced efficiency.

Most recently, the Court has applied for additional funds through the Justice Court Assistance Program, or JCAP Grant. If approved for funding, the Court will be able to purchase additional items and equipment to enhance and maintain the efficiency of the Court.

In other efforts to promote efficiency, the court proposes many additional initiatives for reform.

II. Proposals for Reform

A. Creating a “Greener” Court System

1. Digital Scanning and Forwarding of Documents

The future of maintaining the Colonie Justice Court System, as well as, respectfully, our State Court System, depends on embracing technologies readily available. These initiatives are based on this Court’s desire to maintain and enhance the delivery of justice while saving money and resources.

As the volume of paper continues to grow at a geometric rate in this Court System, it is recommended that the Court move to embrace electronic documents. One needs to look no further than to our Federal Court System as a fit example of utilizing electronic documents in most of its work. Clearly, the Court’s ability to digitally scan its own documents, which it is required to forward to other persons and agencies, saves money by eliminating paper and postage. Such ability also allows for a prompter delivery of documents making the opportunity for justice that much sooner available. To this end, this Court has made application to the New York State Office of Court Administration Unified Court System to obtain digital scanning equipment. Even if the request is not fulfilled by the Unified Court System, the Court respectfully requests the Town Board to favorably consider this request for reform. If permission is needed from the State Unified Court System to utilize electronic documents, the Court respectfully requests that such permission be granted, and at the very least, designate Colonie Court as the “pilot” Town Court for such reform. The Colonie Court has already served as a “pilot court” for many State programs including electronic disposition reporting of Uniform Traffic Tickets and Criminal Disposition, as well as “E-Justice” and “Web DVS”.

2. Utilizing the Albany County Correctional Facility for overnight holding Currently, the Town bears the unnecessary burden and expense of holding those arrested on felonies and other criminal charges until local arraignment. In the face of Colonie Court's demonstrated volume, this is an antiquated system which takes police off the road, requires the engagement of matrons when a female is arrested, and requires Judges to drive back and forth to Court for each individual arraignment. There are a number of logical solutions to saving money, conserving resources and decreasing automobile traffic involving police, inmates and Judges.

With the Albany County Correctional Facility located in the Town of Colonie, approximately two (2) miles from the Colonie Court House and Police Station, it makes better sense to house defendants overnight, at that facility which is best equipped to handle such stays, until the following morning when presented for arraignment. Many municipalities in New York State currently utilize their County Correctional Facility for such purpose; however a Home Rule Request may be required from the Town's Legislative Body to the New York State Legislature for approval of this reform. The Court respectfully requests that this Town's Legislative Body pursue such home rule message. Currently municipalities within the Counties of Erie, Putnam, Yates and Warren already enjoy this benefit. The Town could certainly upgrade its own holding cells to accommodate overnight housing, but it is recommended that the Town utilize the existing County housing facility to avoid such expense and staffing costs associated with housing defendants.

3. Arraignments /Bail

In addition to electronic delivery of paper, technology can be utilized to save money and promote the delivery of justice in arraignments and bail involving those housed in County and State Correctional Facilities. The ability to conduct video arraignments promotes justice because the Judge can have the ability to promptly set bail without requiring the often costly transport of prisoners back and forth from the correctional facility. Prompter bail can mean that defendants can be released from custody sooner which benefits the defendant and the County paying for the housing of the defendant. The Albany County Correctional Facility, on information and belief, is currently equipped so that the Public Defender's Office may conference with a client utilizing the video conference feature. This proposal would allow a video arraignment or bail application, with counsel present, to be heard without the cost of transport. Currently, the cost of transport is borne by the Albany County Sheriff and the Colonie Police Departments. This reform could certainly streamline the hundreds of preliminary hearings scheduled each year in the Court where 95% of such hearings are waived when bail is set.

Further, by handling these matters electronically, the courtroom has fewer people, allowing for a more streamline courtroom session without the additional security detail required in transporting inmates and providing the opportunity to close the courtroom sooner requiring less courtroom staff time. Nevertheless, if a defendant and counsel request a courtroom arraignment or bail application, such request would not be denied.

4. Enhancing Court Administration in the Colonie Justice Court

In the current format of three (3) part-time justices, handling 25,000 cases per year, the volume of cases presented to the Colonie Justice Court supports the addition of a fourth part-time justice. A number of Justice Courts have four justices including the Towns of Southampton and Clarkstown. This is not the only remedy however.

The Court could transition to a full time day court with full time Justices comparable in commitment and compensation to Albany City Court. While full time City Court Judges enjoy ten (10) year terms and Town Justices are constitutionally set at four (4) year terms, nonetheless, full time could positively impact the Colonie Court System. There are a variety of issues involved with such a change in our Judiciary, including, but not limited to, additional court staffing to support day court in addition to the daily work product of current staff members, and staffing for the District Attorney's Office, Public Defender's Office, and Colonie Police Department.

Even without modifying the Court's current three (3) part-time justice format the Court requires a law clerk to assist in the ever increasing volume of motions and trial practice. To that end, the Court requested the addition of said clerk during the summer of 2009, for inclusion in the Justice Department 2010 budget, but it appears the request was not adopted by the Town's Legislative Body. Colonie serves as a big City Court by volume and yet remains understaffed as opposed to comparable City Court Systems.

Further, Court staff must be reclassified commensurate with their duties and with their City Court counterparts. Actually, the Court staff routinely serves in a paralegal capacity but many staff members remain classified as "typists". This must not continue and the Legislative Body should take proper action to remedy this long overdue recognition of the actual duties of Colonie Court Staff.

The annual revenue generated by the Town Court more than pays for the current and proposed operation of the Court and, of course, in addition provides more than $1 million annually to the State of New York and a like amount to the Town's General Fund.

The Court urges the Town Legislative Body to fully consider these proposals and take action as requested. Please feel free to contact us in order to facilitate the maintenance and enhancement of the Colonie Justice Court System.

Hon. Peter G. Crummey, Senior Town Justice – Senior Town Justice Peter G. Crummey is a lifelong resident of Colonie, New York. Judge Crummey graduated from St. Gregory's School, Shaker High School, Boston College and Albany Law School of Union University. Judge Crummey has been in public service for thirty (30) years.

Judge Crummey began public service during his education at Albany Law School when he worked for the New York State Office of Court Administration in 1979.

In 1980, Judge Crummey began work as an intern in the Colonie Town Attorney's Office and became full time after graduation from Albany Law School. At that time, the Judge's duties as a Deputy Town Attorney included representing a variety of town departments and prosecuting vehicle and traffic and local law cases. By 1984, the Judge was engaged by the Village of Menands to also provide his prosecutorial skills in its Court. The Judge left full time employment by the Town of Colonie at the end of 1986 and commenced work for the New York State Senate, at the direction of Senate Majority Leader Warren M.

Anderson, as counsel to the newly created Senate Standing Committee on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. The Judge also served as counsel to the Senate Standing Committee on Insurance prior to being designated Chief Counsel to a Senator. The Judge worked for the Senate through 1990. During the same period, the Judge was appointed counsel to the Town of Colonie Zoning Board of Appeals, a position he eventually served for 13 years. In 1991, the Judge ran for a seat in the Albany County Legislature and was elected and subsequently re-elected in a special election in 1992 and again in 1995. During his eight (8) year tenure as a County Legislator, the Judge served as Minority Leader for 6 of his years of service sponsoring and passing a number of key pieces of legislation including establishing county-net to place county records on line, requiring bidding for county banking services and establishing an employee recognition program, to name merely a few. The Judge played a key role in managing the Albany County Airport and in transitioning the redevelopment of the airport into the Albany International Airport. The Judge also led the effort to establish a West Albany Veterans Memorial Park which today can be visited within the West Albany Pocket Park in Colonie, New York. Each year, the Judge participates in a Memorial Day service at the site.

In 1999, the Judge sought election as Colonie Town Justice and was successful, being re-elected in 2003 and 2007. The Judge has served 10th year as Colonie Town Justice and serves as the Court's Senior Town Justice. The Colonie Town Justice Court is one of the busiest Justice Courts in the State of New York.
